 county funds, Bishop indicated to the council. IN OTHER action, the city council instructed City Attorney Stanley Remelmeier to file a petition for rehearing in the Dominguez Water Co. dispute before the Public Utilities Commission although strong protests over the more than $13,000 paid out in fees to a Los Angeles attorney in the matter were raised.

Remelmeier defended the fees, saying the city had employed a highly qualified attorney on a matter which could mean more than a million dollars to the winner of the struggle.

The council also approved a request of the retail merchants of the downtown area for permission to plant trees through-out the central shopping area. The trees, identified by Park Superintendent Casper Clemens as Indian Laurels, are similar to those being planted now in Long Beach and Los Angeles in the downtown areas.

A bid of $55,000 for the old city hall was rejected as being too low. Appraised value of the property has been set by independent appraisers at $96,500.
